"The StoryArt program is wonderfully creative and educational. Each of the centers gave us great feedback, and the program fell within our budget. Best of all, the children were able to experiment, explore and express their creativity. This program also promotes communication, language and literacy skills in young children. Thanks again."

What's the Story Behind StoryArt?

StoryArt by Let's Gogh Art is a literacy education and creative enrichment program that enables young children to see a story's characters come to life through their own creativity.

Our expert storyteller instructors entertain children in this engaging art-venture. In each class (designed for children ages 2-12), a popular children's story is read to the group, followed by the completion of a unique art project(s) related to the story. We also incorporate age appropriate math, science, writing, geography and history concepts. Depending on the theme, we might also sing, dance and play games. For something different, we can face paint the story's character on each child and/or enjoy a snack related to the story!

This program has been praised for teaching reading comprehension, while inspiring the imagination and self-expression. We offer more than 65 different StoryArt themes.

We bring StoryArt classes to your location. There's NO WORK required on your part. You simply provide adequate space for us to conduct the class and we take care of the rest. We leave your facility exactly the way we found it, but with a whole lot of artful masterpieces proudly on display.
