Let's Gogh Art DIY Studio Opens in Acton for Art & Crafting Fans

Nov. 20, 2017 - Acton, MA — Lynn Toomey has a passion for arts & crafts and all things DIY. Since 2006, her and her team have helped hundreds of thousands of kids and adults explore their creativity through her mobile art-tainment business, Let's Gogh Art.

She recently moved the corporate headquarters of Let's Gogh Art inside the Teamworks Professional Building in Acton, MA. Here, in the combination office and studio space, the Let's Gogh Art creativity crew will welcome DIYers and art enthusiasts to on-site public art events, including: Ladies Night Out, group workshops for kids and adults, afterschool art classes and drop-in crafting every Saturday and during school vacation days. The cozy and colorful studio can host private birthday parties and other group events by reservation 7 days a week.

"I'm a life-long artist, mother and entrepreneur," said Toomey. I started Let's Gogh Art after I added twins to my family and was laid off from corporate America. I've never looked back." Toomey added, "Let's Gogh Art provides what we call process-based, 'fun art' (not necessarily fine art). We offer a big assortment of unique art project "blanks" that allow kids and adults to explore their own creativity. In our art classes, we offer a very unique curriculum that's been curated over 10 years. We have both step-by-step guidance and DIY, depending on the event. I'm really excited to be bringing the mobile programs we offer all over Massachusetts to our studio in Acton for area residents to enjoy."

Filling the shelves of the Let's Gogh Art studio is a host of creative projects suitable for all ages and tastes and ranging in price from $5-$25, including: canvas, ceramics, wood, fabric, glass, papier mache, collage, and many others. The menu, literally, is extensive and includes the company's own art kits, as well as seasonal projects.

"People, especially parents of pre-schoolers, really enjoy our "All You Can Create" Art Buffet, commented Toomey. For only $15pp, little ones can enjoy open-ended art projects that are constantly changing so you can have a new art experience every time you visit us."

Let's Gogh Art is open and ready to welcome Acton area art/craft enthusiasts and families looking for a creative break. The studio is located at 30 Great Rd., Suite 205 (inside the Teamworks Professional Building. Parking and entrance is located in the back of the building).
